

Put money aside,
not college.

It's never too late. It's never too early.

There's never a bad time to start saving. Never. That's why we encourage you to use this college savings planner to come up with a plan that works best for you and those you want to help secure a promising future. You can get started for as little as $15 a month. And there are investment options that will help you prepare for college whether it's a few years away or a generation away. So, take your time, do the planning calculations, and talk to our financial partners to ensure you make the decision that is best for you.

Seeking an education beyond high school and obtaining a degree or certificate is a big part of the American dream.

*In 2018, 47% of 25–29 year olds had completed an associate's degree or higher.

This statistic would undoubtedly be higher if more potential students had access to funds needed to cover higher education expenses.

Lack of funds, steadily rising college costs, and the increased burden of student loan debt, are primary reasons why most would-be students do not complete their college dreams. This College Savings Planner has been developed by the Arizona Commission for Postsecondary Education in order to help parents, grandparents, caregivers, and students themselves begin the planning process. By providing the opportunity to save, both children and adults have an increased likelihood to pursue their higher education goals and make their dreams a reality.

While most families expect their child to go to college, only 44% of families have a plan to pay for college.

College. Save for it. Or you'll pay for it.

PARENTS

Whether your child aspires to be a scientist, lawyer, chef or politician, the Arizona Commission for Postsecondary Education wants to find a way to help make their dreams come true and provide an opportunity to lighten the financial burden of higher education. As parents, preparing early for college and familiarizing yourselves with the options of financial aid and college savings will position you to make college a reality for your child.

GRANDPARENTS

Grandparents want to share their valuable experience with their grandchildren by presenting them with the precious gift of knowledge and learning. Often, grandparents are in a place in life to plan for their grandchild's education. Gift tax benefits and annual tax deductions make the Arizona Family College Savings Plan a good choice.

ADULTS

For working adults going back to college, an AZ529 account can be opened in your name to help you prepare financially.

In 2018, the median family income for families headed by a four-year college graduate was more than 2x that for families headed by a high school graduate. $121,060 vs. $57,630

THE COSTS

Over the past 20 years, college costs have risen more than twice the rate of inflation. For many parents, funding their child's college education will be one of their largest and most significant expenses.

Therefore, saving money for your child's college education requires foresight and planning. However, before any such planning can be started, a savings goal should be established.

Exactly how much will it cost to send your child to college? Through research, you will be able to estimate the amount of money needed to send your child to a private university, a public institution, a community college or trade school. You may choose to set aside a fixed amount of your income and select an investment plan. Define what your goals are and determine the best path to reach them.

Financial aid. Because money is the most important school supply of all.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

Four types of financial aid programs make up the majority of financial aid. These programs are made available and funded by the federal government, the State of Arizona, and various private organizations. These four groups include:

GRANTS LOANS SCHOLARSHIPS WORK STUDY

Need-Based vs. Merit-Based

Need-based is defined as financial aid programs that are awarded based on the financial situation of the student and/or their family. Merit-based is defined as financial aid awards that are given in response to met criteria. Academic scholarships and athletic scholarships are examples of merit awards.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID	NEED-BASED	MERIT-BASED
Grants	X
Loans	X
Scholarships	X	X
Work Study	X

Federal Grants

Grants are forms of financial aid that do not need to be repaid. Grants are typically provided to students from limited-income families and are need-based in nature. There are a variety of grants available to eligible students, the most common are:

Pell Grant:

This federally funded program provides assistance for educational expenses based on financial need, academic enrollment status, and length of program. Awards typically range from $650–$6,195 a year.

Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG):

This federally funded program is granted to students who demonstrate exceptional need and are also eligible for Pell Grants.

Loans

Loans are federally or privately funded sources of assistance that must be repaid with interest at the conclusion of a student's college attendance.

Federal Direct Student Loan:

Students may qualify for a "subsidized" Federal Direct Loan based on their identified financial need or an "unsubsidized" Federal Direct Loan, which does not take into consideration their own or their family's household income levels.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan:

These loans are available to parents who want to borrow monies to help pay for their child's education. These loans have variable interest rates.

Scholarships

Scholarships are granted to students and are often based on performance in a particular area such as academics or sports. There are several websites which list the thousands of various types of scholarships available. Visit the Arizona Commission for Postsecondary Education website at collegegoal.az.gov/financial-resources.

Work Study

Federal Work Study (FWS):

This need-based program provides jobs for students who have applied for financial aid and are eligible to work as part of their financial aid award package. Students participating in this program may work on or off campus, up to 20 hours per week, and the money earned is paid directly to the student.
